W. Morgan and others, Committee Gentlemen: When in the city of New York, on the lith of July, in the presthe National Democratic Convention, you tendered to me its unanimous nomination as their candidate for the office of President of the United States, I stated I had no words "adequate to express my gratitude for the good will and kind-ness which that body had shown to me Its nomination was unsought and unexpected. It was my ambition to take an serive part-from which I am now ex-cinded-in the great struggle going on for the restoration of good government, of peace and presperity to our country But I have been caught up by the overwheiming tide which is bearing us on to a great political change, and I find my-self unable to resist its pressure. You have also given me a copy of the resour-tions put forth by the Convention, showing its position upon all the great ques tions which now agitate the country. As the presiding efficer of that Convention. I am familiar with their scone and import. As one of its members, I am a party to their terms. They are in accord with my views, and I stand upon them n the contest upon which we are now

Its acta ince the adjournment of the Convenion show an alarm lest a change of poitical power will give to the people what they ought to have—a clear statement of what has been done with the money drawn from them during the past eight years. Thoughtful men feel that there tave been wrongs in the financial mangement which have been kept from the public knowledge. The Congressional party has not only allied itself with military power, which is to be brought many States, but it also holds itself it erpetual session, with the avowed purpose of making such laws as it shall see fit, in view of the elections which will take place within a few weeks. It did not, therefore, adjourn, but took a recess o meet again, it its partisan interests should demand its reassembling. Never before in the history of our country has ongress thus taken a menacing attitude toward its electors. Under its nethence ome of the States organized by its agents are preposing to deprive the peo-ple of the right to vote for Presidential le of the right to vote for Presidential the people to petition for redress of sectors, and the first bold steps are taken grievances. It secures the right of a to destroy the rights of suffrage. It is not strange, therefore, that thoughtful men see in such action the proof that there is, with those who shape the policy Republican party, metives stronger and deeper than the mere wish to hold political power-that there is a dr ad of some exposure, which drives them on to acts so desperate and so impolitic. Many of the ablest leaders and journals of the Republican party have openly deplored the violence of Congresdonal action, and its tendency to keep up discord in our country. The great aterests of our Union demand peace, order, and a return to those industria pursuits without which we cannot maintain the faith or honor of our Government. The minds of business men are perplexed by uncertainties. The hours f toll of our laborers are lengthened by the cost of living; made by the direct

Yet at this moment hose in power have thrown into the Senate chamber and Congressional hall new elements of discord and violence. Men have been admitted as representa ives of some of the Southern States with the declaration upon their lips that they cannot live in the States they claim o represent, without military protec tion. These men are to make laws for the North, as well as the South. These men who, a few days since, were seeking as suppliants that Congress would give them power within their respective States, are to-day the masters and con-trollers of the action of those bodies. Entering them with minds filled with useions, their first demands have been that Congress shall look upon the States from which they came as in conditions of civil war; that the majority of their N. If this has been the case heretofore, what will be its acthe case heretofore, what will be its ac-tion now, with this new infusion of men who, without a decent respect for the views of those who have just given them their positions, begin their legislative career with calls for arms—with demands their positions, begin their legislative career with calls for arms—with demands that their States shall be regarded as in a condition of civil war, and with the declaration that they are ready and anxlous to degrade the President of the United States whenever they can persuade or force Congress to bring forward new articles of impeachment?
